The Noblesville Gun Club, a new organization, will send ten men to the tournament, and the word received from all sections of Indiana, and from many localities in other States, indicates that the delegations from various well-knewn clubs will be large. In fact, there never has been a tournament in this State, and few in the West, in which the interest is more pronounced. Ed Taylor, of Cincinnati, one of the finest trap-shots in Ohio, will enter the live-bird events on the third day, next Thursday. He is an A class man, and therefore barred from the manimate target events of Tuesday and Wednesday.

Saloons Trying to Steal the Mayoralty.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. VINCENNES, Ind., May 16.-To-day ex-Mayor Murphy, the defeated candidate of the whisky element of the city, filed a suit in the Knox Circuit Court contesting the seat of Mayor Miller, the citizens' candidate. The suit is not a little surprising, for at the first meeting of the Council after Batteries—DePauw, Miner and Houts; Polytechnics, Hulman and Frank. Struck out—By Houts, 9; by Frank, 5. Base hits—DePauw, 4; Polytechnics, 5. Umpires—Smith and Smith.

The election Murphy stepped down and the very gracefully, and Miller was properly inducted into his office without a word of protest from any source.

Mr. Miller, the reform candidate, is also Murphy. Democrat, as is also Murphy. The contest is simply a final kick of the vanquished saloon element, which had dominated the municipal government for so long that respectable citizens have for-gotten when they had anything to say in the regulation of affairs. However, the contest is calculated to give trouble, and, on technical grounds, may deprive Miller of his position. He was elected under the Australian law by a majority of four, and the election was conceded to him by all. Murphy's complaint says that fifteen illegal votes were counted for Miller, and twentyfive legal votes for Murphy were thrown out. By proclamation Mayor Miller has forbidden Sunday base-ball within the corporate limits. The people have just begun to feel that they have at last been redeemed from the fate that overtook Sodom. There is a general sentiment that Murphy has acted unwisely and that he cannot succeed.

Officers Shot by Burglars. Youngsrown, O., May 16,-Officer William Freed is dying and officer Jacob Petrie will probably loose his left arm as a result of a fight after midnight with a gang of burglars. The residence of Dr. McCurdy was entered and a sealskin sacque and money taken. Officer Petrie arrested a stranger on suspicion. The man broke away and fired a revolver at the posse of officers in pursuit. Freed was shot in the abdomen and Petrie in the left shoulder. The police captured the man and found the stolen articles in his possession. The other burglars escaped. The man captured gave his name as William Sherman, of New York, aged eighteen and claims to have been a reporter and telegraph operator.

Fight with Express-Train Robbers. St. Louis, May 16 .- Word comes from Norman, O. T., to the effect that an Indian scout, just arrived there from the Choctaw nation, reports a fight between the Dalton boys, the alleged robbers of the Santa Fe | as it has been, the most vigorous, athletic express train some days ago, and a posse of and intellectual among the communions of United States marshals. He Feels Keenly the Disgrace of His Son and May Resign from Office Himself.

No Dishonest or Questionable Act Charged Against the Commissioner-Young Raum Warned in Time by Secretary Noble.

CHICAGO, May 16 .- Gen. Green B. Raum, Commissioner of Pensions, is in Chicago. Concerning his son's resignation he said: "I handed the resignation to the Secretary before I left Washington. I thought it was the best thing my son could do, and it was on my advice and with my entire sanction that he stepped out of the Pension Office. The charge made that Green appropriated to his own use $72 belonging to the department is untrue. I know how that statement came to be made. Some time ago $72 was sent

Gen. Green B. Raum, Penston Commissioner. to the office in my care. My son opened the letter. There was no letter or anything it was from, and after a certain length of time my son informed the law clerk that he would turn the money over to the Treasury Department to be placed to the credit of the conscience fund. That same night he took the money to his home and the next day deposited it in the treasury. Simply because he had that money with him at home the charge is made that he appropriated it." ecompanying the money to indicate where home the charge is made that he appropriated it."

Concerning the published statement that he himself would resign. General Raum said to-day: "If because of this unfortunate affair about my son the President is all displeased with me I shall resign. Whether he is displeased I cannot say, for I have received no intimation from him. I am very sorry for my son, and am deeply humiliated by it. But he is innocent of wrong-doing. The $72 was satisfactorily accounted for, and the colored man, who has an excellent reputation, denies having had any money from the man Smith. And it is not shown that my son received any money."

"Then why did he resign?"

"In the department there are about two thousand employes. Many enmities exist. Complaints, unjustly, have been made about him to the Secretary, and, to prevent further annoyance to that official, my son resigned. He could not afford to remain while any suspicion rested upon him. As to my thoughts upon my own future I do not care to say. I shall leave for Washington this afternoon. What I do will depend upon what I learn there. I did not seek the office. It came to me unsolicited. During my incumbency its affairs have been conducted with honesty and dispatch. I have nothing to conceal. Upon my record there does not rest a blot. I have been in public life a long time and no man can point to a dishonest action or even questionable act of mine.

Young Raum Warned by Secretary Noble.

Young Raum Warned by Secretary Noble, ST Louis, May 16.-Gen. John W. Noble, Secretary of the Interior, who is in this city, was seen in reference to the discharge of Green B. Raum, jr., the son of the Commissioner of Pensions. "It is true," said the Secretary, "that young Raum's resignation was demanded. The charges against him of selling offices and the false personation in the civil-service examination, I am satisfied, are true, and I myself discharged three men involved. I asked for young Raum's resignation, and it was understood that it would not be witheld longer than to-day. Young Raum has recently got that it would not be witheld longer than to-day. Young Raum has recently got into bad habits. I cannot in any sense hold his father, Gen. Green B. Raum, responsible for the shortcomings of his son. Gen. Raum has my sincere sympathy. He has acted the part of an honorable man and a good officer. I know of no charges of any kind against General Raum. I warned young Raum in time, but he paid no heed to me. I felt that his conduct was tarnishing the administration. I owed it to myself and the President to take prompt and decisive action in the premises. It is an ugly business and I dislike to discuss it, but my duty was clear in the premises."

Applications for the Vacant Position.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, May 16 .- Applications for the position of assistant chief clerk of the Pension Office, made vacant by the forced resignation of Green B. Raum, jr., are already pouring in, some coming by telegraph. Two were presented before the office was formally opened this morning. It is probable that the place will be filled by promotion. A great deal of sympathy is expressed on every hand for Commissioner Ranm, and he has been elevated in public estimation by this unfortunate incident of his son. It is learned that General Raum promptly demanded a full investigation of the charges, and when they were proven true he ordered his son to resign. The impression prevails that General Raum. smarting under the disgrace of his son, will himself resign very soon after he returns here from Chicago.

A Elorse Battle, Harper's Weekly. The herds of horses on the Western ranch, roaming over so large a space, rarely encounter one another. When they do, mares evince only the smallest possible amount of curiosity, but join the graze. Different is it with the stallions. With but a moment's preparation, they run wildly at one another like mad bulls, neighing in what seems the mockery of a neigh, and with head in the air and tail curving proudly, they rush and plunge and rear, kicking and biting, stamping one on the other until the ground and horses are covered with blood, and exhaustion of one forces a surrender and retreat. As I have said, the fickle mares march off with the conqueror at their head, while the defeated lags wearily behind. One of the most terrible battles that probably ever took place between ranch stallions occurred near the home rance of the Little Missouri Horse Farm in the spring of 1888, at the time when the several banches or droves of horses were being driven in from the ranges for an account of stock and for the branding of the young colts. It happened by the merest chance that three droves came in together with the stallions leading. Naturally the three joined, and at once arose the question of leadership. This could only be settled by a battle, and before the herders could begin to form any plan for separating them the three stallions were engaged in fiercest battle. As described by those who saw it, this battle was so savage and so bloody that it seemed certain that at least one of the combatants must be killed. It lasted a little more than twenty minutes, and when the "smoke of battle" drifted away and the fight was done, a big gray Percheron called Napoleon was seen to be the victor, and he it was that, with uplifted head and proudly curved tail, led the company of mares and colts to the pastures, while the two defeated ones marched together like whipped curs, dejectedly in the rear. In this instance, although the fight was an unusually desperate one, and all three horses were badly cut and torn, none of the three suffered more than temporary discomfort.

Creed Must Harmonize with Knowledge.

Philadelphia Press. If the Presbyterian Church is to remain drawn by good but fallible and sinning men two and a half centuries ago. It will turn again to the living fount of inspira-tion and seek in the light thrown by Providence on the inspiration of the divine word for adequate expressions of the truth suited to the needs of the day. These needs are constantly changing. Every Presbyterian believes that the church to-day is as much inspired, no more and no less, than when the standards were drawn. Without this belief the church is tied to the dead past and no longer inspired in the living present. The vital question which a church thus inspired must put to all new teaching is not whether it is dogma but whether it

A CALIFORNIA HOLIDAY.

The Presidential Tour as Viewed by a Native -The People at Play.

San Francisco Letter in New York Post.

The President's tour of the State has been one continuous celebration. It is not probable that either he or any of his party will venture to hint, what one Californian fearlessly asserts, that it has been a perpetual menace to life and limb. Yet it has been little less. There has been boundless hospitality, and overflowing warmth of heart, and produgality of expenditure; but Cali-forma's reception has been like the hug of a grizzly—an embrace to be courted but once in a lifetime, and it is safe to prophesy that if Mr. Harrison ever revisits the Golden State it will be as a private citizen. Of course it began in Southern California. All the mischief in the State usually finds its birthplace in that Edenic district. This its birthplace in that Edenic district. This time it undertook to prove its floral wealth by smothering the President in flowers; and when the scheme failed, the inhabitants tried the effect of single shots with bouquets. One of these, aimed with a nice exactitude, struck him in the eye, and he has been on his guard ever since. He was feasted, and feted, and called upon for speeches, and led from one blinding spectacle to another, winding up with the memorable and beautiful flower with the memorable and beautiful flower display in Santa Barbara, where a hundred thousand callas (thirty thousand from the garden of one citizen) were banked about the grand-stand, and where a battle of flowers took place, in which a hundred equipages, horses, carriages and occupants were so trimmed with flowers as to be almost disguised; where the air was bright with flying nosegays, and wreaths, and garlands, and the ground carpeted with blossoms. But this was only a beginning. When the presidential party embarked on the ferry-

One day it was a reception, a banquet, and a ride, the next a greeting from sixty thousand school-children, a ride to the Cliff House, and a review of a sail around the bay, the launching of a bast to say that admirable forethought and wisdom have characterized the action of the various committees who have had the management and direction of matters pertain on other State that they have passed through have they been afforded opportunities for becoming so well acquainted with the country and enjoying its most attractive feature, and yet have been permitted so much freedomy while so carefully guarded against of the committees for the committees with an other popuration of the stractive citizen way than by the fact that one of the hardest workers on half a dozen committees while how the school-child inne to see him before he takes his leave.

"True" Short-Cake.

Restaurant short-cake is made of a few strawberries and a sort of "regular cake," whereas the true short-cake is made as fol-

A quart of flour, a tablespoonful of but-ter, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a pinch of salt and milk quantum sufficit for a good biscuit dough. Put this, in one piece, into a biscuit-pan to bake. When it's done cut it open in the middle, and but-ter both sides well. Have the berries partially jammed, and sugar them to the taste -not too sweet. Spread them over the bottom piece of your dough, reserving the juice as a sauce; then put the top piece of dough over this, sifting powdered sugar over the top of that. The juice can be added on the plate. The reason why so many people fail in making a short-cake is that they put too much butter into the dough. A tablespoonful is enough, in the making of the dough: but don't be stingy with it when you are buttering the slices of the cake.

The President's Remarkable Tour. Lafayette Courier.

The incidents of the President's tour are without precedent. Called upon almost hourly for a speech, he responded without repeating himself or quoting from encylopedias. His trip has been not only beneficial to the party to which he belongs, but to the country generally, and in popularity he is many times stronger to-day than when he made the race against Grover Cleveland in 1888. The people are learning to know him and appreciate him. He is an honest man and a brainy man, and it is a very mean partisan opponent who does not cheerfully concede that he has made a most excellent chief executive, and that his talents are entitled to the admiration of every American citizen.
